

The Journal of Maritime Law and Commerce (JMLC) only publishes original work. The purpose of the Journal is to advance the field of maritime law and commerce. The JMLC does not support the use of generative artificial intelligence (AI) in the production of original submissions for the Journal. If generative AI is used for any purpose in the production or editing of a submission, the exact use must be noted and described in a footnote. Please note that Bluebook Rule 18.3 has specific guidance on how to properly attribute AI-generated content. AI tools for specific purposes, such as editing, may be permitted but must be disclosed. The JMLC reserves the right to reject articles that appear to have used generative AI in the producing or editing of the article, attributed or unattributed.